Czar's Uncle in a Special Interview Given to The World Declares that at Special Price Reductions for Wednesday. · There Can Be No Question of Intervention by the United States in Internal Affairs of the Muscovites.

(By Cable from a Staff Correspondent of The World.)

HOMBURG, Germany, June 29.—Grand Duke Michael of Russia, uncle of the present Czar and brother of the late Czar, gave the following impor tant interview to a staff correspondent of The World:

"It is impossible to give all the causes which have contributed for centuries to produce the racial hatred against the Jews, which has been especially strong since the time of Peter the Great.

"A certain aspect of it is purely religious. As, for instance, the resentment felt at the oppression of Greek Orthodox Christians in Poland when that country was still a distinct kingdom and the Polish administration was inspired by Jews. "But it is not true to say that the Jews in Russia are discontented

"The Jewish agitation is chiefly instiguted by influential Jews outside of Russia, such as the members of the society in New York which has presented a petition, and especially the powerful Jews in Berlin.

"An example of this occurred when Baron Hirson arranged for the emigration of large numbers of Jews from Russia to South America. It seems to me conclusive proof that the Russian Jews are not unhappy when we remember that large numbers of those emigrants returned immediately to Russia upon the

"Disturbances similar to those at Kishineff have occurred from time to time, especially about Easter. They are rumored generally some two or three months beforehand, and I recollect that my brother, the late Emperor, was much occupied with the question. In this particular case the civil authorities were warned some three weeks beforehand that a disturbance probably would take

"I do not in the least condone the civil administration. The Governor, although an old officer, decorated for bravery, appears to have lost his head. But directly application was made to the military authorities-who cannot intervene without being requested to do so-the crisis was ended in two or three hours. Military assistance was summoned too late, and the Governor has since then been removed.

"I repeat, therefore, that I cannot 'n the least condone the apathy of the civil suthorities. But it must be remembered that there are some $,000,000 or $,000,000 of Jows in Russia, although it is very difficult to count them, since they do not care to appear for the census. Kishineit is one of their principal centres. "The Russian Jews, moreover, are not rich and influential like the great financiers in Germany and France. They are not allowed to keep banks.

Although some of the larger Russian banks were originally founded by Jews, they now are in the hands of Christians, and the Jews themselves, as a rule, are poor people, working in factories and on-farms." What will be the reception given to the American petition in Russia?

"There can be no question of intervention by America in the purely internal affairs of Russia. Nevertheless I am aware that the relations Lawn Suits, between Russia and America have always been of a very cordial nature, especially since 1862, when a Russian fleet visited New York.

"On an island in Peterhof there is a tree that was planted by two Americans, whose names I do not for the moment recollect, in memory of Washington

My father had an inscription placed upon it, and it has now grown into a very As the correspondent arose to go, thanking him for the interview, His Royal Highness most cordially expressed his pleasure and gratification over the oppor-tunity of contributing his quota toward a better understanding between the Russian and the American people.

signed to Engine Company No. 75, at Jerome avenue and One Hundred and Eighty-third street. He has for some time been on sick leave. During the trial of ex-Chief Croker Fisher testified that a "vacuum is an inch of nothing."

AT HIGHER SALARY

Commissioner Sturgis Transas Fire Marshal, Having Been Battalion Chief Just 24 Hours.

John W. Burrows, sixty-five years old, fell overboard from the ferry-boat Meteor at Shooters Island pier, Mariners' Harbor, S. I., to-day and was drowned.

The body was recovered and taken to his home in Caroline at the latest was a control of the state.

Commissioner Sturgis, of the Fire Department, to-day placed Thomas F. Freel back in his old position as Fire Marshal. Freel was promoted to the position of Battalion Chief and places in command of the Tenth Battalion. He now resumes his position as Fire Marshal of the beroughs of Manhattan

The position of Battalion Chief he held for twenty-four hours, but during that time did no work, being allowed a

A year and a half ago Freel was a Captain, being then in command of En-gian Co. No. 8. He was given leave of absence soon after Commissioner Sturyls took office and was made a Fire Marshal. As a Captain he received $2,150 per annum, but as a Fire Marshal received $3,000.

When he was promoted Chief of Bat tallon his salary was again increased to $3,300 per annum. He retains this salary although put back to his old

Twenty Years' Service.

It was twenty years ago to a day that "Tom" Barrett, as he is affectionately known to the older men under him, was assigned to the Mercer Street Hook and Ladder Company; the same station he took to-day for his headquarters as commander of the Third Battalion. He is from "up-State"— Dutchess County—and he says that he was so "green" when he was given his first assignment that he got lost trying to find Mercer street. Chief Freel has two medals for saving life outside the line of duty one awarded by the Life Saving Benevolent Association of New York, in 1884, and another by Congress, On June 6 last he received in 1900. On June 6 last he received the Stephenson medal for general efficiency as an officer. The first two mendioned honors were for resouing drowning children while he was stationed on firebost duty at the foot of Clinton street. Three times during his early career as a fireman his name appeared on the roll of merit for brave acts performed at "personal risk."

It was learned that Patrick H. Travers, recently made a Battalion Chief and placed in charge of the Thirty-second Battalion, will to-morrow take charge as Chief of Construction and Repairs. Travers was the only veteran on the eligible list for eighter that position or that of Battalion Chief. It had long been his ambetion to become Chief of Construction, so he made a protest to Commissioner Sturgis when he was made a Battalion Chief instead. The Corporation Counsel decided that Travers heaf a veteran made him eligible to either position, so the change was made, ?
